BIO

Raphael Di Biase was born in 1988 in Bolzano, a city in the middle of mountains in the north of Italy. Between a vast variety of languages and cultures this was the perfect place to grow up.

He attended the Highschool for graphic advertising in Merano and did different internships in graphic agencies and product design studios.

After finishing Highschool he traveled a lot and did a graphic design internship in Graz (A).

There he worked for one year, creating posters, flyers, brochures, advertisings, packaging, logotypes, identities, illustrations, and web sites, gaining a lot of skills and experience. Then came the time for studies.

Raphael is currently studying at the Design and Art Faculty at the Free University of Bolzano in Italy. During this time he worked as a photographer, graphic designer and recently discovered the passion for product design.
